When the Hair Falls Out accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored spots, swollen glands, aching bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease, the only antidote for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse.

In the fall of 1897
I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, ulcers appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored spots and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S.

But must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This waiting encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. From that time on the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control; the sores and ulcers healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder; I have been strong and healthy ever since.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Smallpox in Rock Hill.

Rock Hill, January 19.—Mr.
Albert Harrison has a case of smallpox. During the holidays he visited several other towns in this State, a fortnight since. For a week he has been slightly indisposed and upon calling in a physician he pronounced it small pox. His diagnosis has been confirmed by another physician. The board of health took charge at once and quarantined the residence and premises. The post house built two years ago is being renovated today and the patient will be removed there tomorrow.
The town is pretty thoroughly vaccinated and there seems to be little alarm felt as to a spread.

THE PRESS REVIEWS THE QUEEN'S LIFE.

She was More to Her People Than A Sovereign.

London, Jan. 21.—A bulletin issued at midnight was too late to become known in London except to a very few. If when the metropolis wakes, the queen is still living, her people must then realize that there is really no hope.

This morning's newspapers have thrown off all the pretense of any possibility of recovery and they sadly admit that the end may come at any moment.

"While there is life there is hope," they say, "and the queen's constitution is yet marvelously strong; but it is idle to deny that the danger is extreme."

Therefore the papers proceed to review her majesty's long and illustrious reign as though she were no more and dilate upon the wonderful influence she wielded in European politics for so many years. "We all know," says the Daily Mail, "that there is danger of losing perhaps the greatest personal force of our times."

BISMARCK'S TRIBUTE.

The Daily News recalls the fact that even Bismarck, who detested feminine interference in politics, formed an estimate of the queen, after a personal interview with her, which bordered on the idolatrous; and it adds: "This is one of the most striking tributes ever paid to a great character."

A bright spot in the universal gloom was the unexpectedly and prompt sympathy displayed by Emperor William in giving up important engagements to come to the deathbed of his grand mother. "This," says the Daily Mail, "is calculated to endear his name to every Englishman; and, we feel at such an hour what true sympathy means."

NOT MERE LOYALTY.

The Times says: "There is but one sentiment today in the hearts of the English-speaking people throughout the world. Their eyes are turned in keen anxiety to the sick bed where lies the venerable sovereign who commands not merely the loyalty but the personal affection of countless millions."

"It needs no very great medical knowledge to understand the meaning of the latest bulletin.
We must admit, however, that all our hopes and fears are alike based upon very imperfect knowledge.
We can only await the result and bear the painful suspense with such calmness and fortitude as we are able to summon to our aid."

"History affords but few examples of rulers who have won the deep personal affection and regard enjoyed by our beloved queen. Even among those not of our blood or speech, even those who have little that is kind to say of the British people, there are un stinted sympathy and warm regard for the British queen."

"Were we more like her, were our official and individual relations with foreigners carried on with more of her catholic urbanity and graciousness, who knows but that we, too, should win something of the kindly regard testified today in every foreign capital?"

Referring to the

PRESENCE OF THE KAISER.

The Times says: "His presence is Germany's homage to those very human feelings and sympathies so uniformly displayed by the queen. As such it will be understood here and be all the more honored and appreciated because it involves a certain lofty disregard of mere politics. As such we do not doubt it will be understood in all the other countries and it will be watched with respectful sympathy."

Similar testimony to Emperor William's touching action finds place in almost all the editorials.

The Standard says: "If the queen were aware of the German emperor's arrival, the circumstances could hardly fail to bring some satisfaction to her mind. It is a consolation, in this hour of national distress, to listen to the universal chorus of respectful esteem which her majesty's illness has evoked abroad.
In the United States the progress of the patient has been watched as anxiously as in London, and the bitterest critics of England have only words of respect for England's queen."

The Morning Post says: "Out of the most reverent and profound respect for our sovereign we must stand silent before the sorrow which holds us. The love and admiration of her subjects are, unhappily, of no avail. Nothing in these dark days, when sorrow is heavy on us, will have so sweet

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.

There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by an effect on the minds of the queen's subjects throughout the world as the arrival of Emperor William."

The Daily Telegraph says: "A precious and beloved existence hovers at last upon the brink of the great mystery. A life of lives is drooping toward the valley of shadow and the empire waits in its silence and sorrow."

"But beyond the empire are the unexampled sympathy, concern and wonderful homage of mankind. Emperor William, above all, has expressed this wonderful feeling, not in word, but in act, with a truth and fervor of natural affection which England will not forget. It is one of the saddest circumstances of the hour that Empress Frederick is not able to be present. Therefore Emperor William's presence is doubly dutiful and at Osborne house it will be doubly dear."

Proceeding to refer in detail to the sympathy displayed in all parts of the globe, it says:

"For the American people the character and domestic example of the queen have been a consecration of the Anglo-Saxon ideal. They have been regarded as hardly less the possession of the United States than of ourselves and they have gone far to restore the moral unity of the race and to heal the worst effects of its political separation."

No Progress in Curing Grippe.

About two weeks ago we were all busy telling one another how many advantages we of this new Twentieth century possess which the poor people of one hundred years ago did not have. All of which is very true. Geo. Washington did not enjoy railroads, telegraphs, telephones, electric lights, trolley cars and all those things. But George Washington died of the grippe—or something very like it—and today thousands of people are suffering from that same malady, which is an epidemic in this country, and, despite the Twentieth century learning and facilities, hundreds are dying just as Washington died in the days of bleeding and cupping.—

Valuable Work of a Former Lan- caster County Boy.

A copy of the Marion County News of Hamilton, Ala., makes the following complimentary notice to the work of Mr. E.
H. Cauthen of the Heath Springs section of this county:

We know of a certainty, by personal observation, that the science of agriculture is now being thoroughly and successfully taught in the West Alabama Agricultural School and Experiment Station, located at Hamilton. This department is under the management of Prof.
E. F. Cauthen, who has given the subject much study, and has the happy faculty of explaining and illustrating his subject in such a manner as to make them easy of comprehension by his students. A visit to Prof.
Cauthen's agricultural class will convince the most skeptical that there is much more in agriculture than following the

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome plow and digging with the hoe, and that the students are rapidly acquiring knowledge that will serve them well in after life.

During the growing season Prof. Cauthen will practically illustrate the theories and principles taught in the school room by experiments on the station.

While, as their names indicates, the teaching of agriculture is the prime object of these schools, the literary and scientific curriculum of the West Alabama will compare favorably with those of the colleges in the State, and each department is in charge of competent and experienced teachers.

Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, and that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.
It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief, for it digests what you eat. Craw-

VICTORIA'S LIFE AND FAM- ILY.

Facts Concerning the Sovereign Who is Thought to be Dying.

Queen Victoria was born May 24, 1819. On June 20th 1837, she became queen of England, succeeding her uncle, King William IV. on Feb. 10th, 1840, she married Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who died Dec. 14, 1861.

Victoria has been the mother of nine children, as follows:

1. Victoria Adelaide, Princess Royal, who married Emperor Frederic William of Germany.
She is the mother of the present emperor of Germany.
2. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, and heir to the throne.
3. Alice Maud Mary, Grand Duchess of Hesse, deceased 1878.
4. Alfred, Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Duke of Edinburgh.
Married Grand Duchess Marie, daughter of Alexander II., Emperor of Russia.
5. Helena, Princess Christian.
Married Prince Frederick Christian of Schlesburg-Holstein.
6. Louise, Marchioness of Lome.
7. Arthur, Duke of Connaught.
8. Leopold, Duke of Albany.
9. Beatrice Mary Victoria Feodore. Married Prince Henry of Battenburg, to whom the queen was greatly attached.

The Prince of Wales was born in 1841, and is therefore 60 years old. In 1863 he married Princess Alexandria of Denmark.
Their eldest child, Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence, born 1864, died in 1892. At the time of his death he was engaged to Princess Mary Victoria of Teck, who afterwards married his brother, George Frederick, Duke of York, the second eldest living child of the Prince and Princess of Wales.
The Duke of York is next to his father in succession to the throne of the most powerful kingdom of modern times. He was born in 1865 and has two sons and one daughter.

The other children of the Prince and Princess of Wales are:
Louise Victoria, 1867; married the Duke of Fife; Victoria Alexandra, 1868, and Maude Charlotte, 1879, who are unmarried, and Alexander, born 1871 and died in infancy.

The Czarina of Russia is the granddaughter of Queen Victoria, being Victoria Alice, daughter of the Grand Duchess of Hesse. By other marriages the queen of Great Britain is connected with all the powerful reigning families of Europe.

Through these relatives she has often exerted her influence in international affairs, especially for peace.
